INTRODUCTION

The History and Social Science Standards of Learning Curriculum Framework 2015, approved by the Board of Education on January 28, 2016, is a companion document to the 2015 History and Social Science Standards of Learning for Virginia Public Schools. The Curriculum Framework amplifies the Standards of Learning by defining the content understandings, knowledge, and skills that are measured by the Standards of Learning assessments.

The standards and Curriculum Framework are not intended to encompass the entire curriculum for a given grade level or course, nor to prescribe how the content should be taught. School divisions are encouraged to incorporate the standards and Curriculum Framework into a broader, locally designed curriculum. The Curriculum Framework delineates in greater specificity the minimum content that all teachers should teach and all students should learn. Teachers are encouraged to go beyond the standards and select instructional strategies and assessment methods appropriate for their students. Additional details such as the names of historical figures whose study further enriches the standards and clarifies the concepts under investigation will be found in the Curriculum Framework.

The Curriculum Framework facilitates teacher planning by identifying essential understandings, knowledge, and skills. Together, these key elements provide the focus of instruction for each standard. The purpose of each section is explained below:

Standard of Learning Statement

Each page begins with a Standard of Learning statement as a focus for teaching and learning. Students will apply social science skills to understand the interrelationships between the history, geography, economics, and civics content, as well as become actively engaged in their learning.

Essential Skills (Standard 1)

The essential history and social science skills are outlined in Standard 1 for each grade level or course. Students use these skills to increase understanding of the history and social sciences content, including historical, geographic, political, and economic events or trends. The development of these skills is important in order for students to become better-informed citizens.

The first column for Standard 1 contains "Essential Understandings," which are described below. The second column contains examples of how the skill may be applied in the classroom.

Note: The skills will not be assessed in isolation; rather, they will be assessed as part of the content in the History and Social Science Standards of Learning.

Essential Understandings

This column includes the fundamental background information necessary to acquire and apply the essential knowledge. The understandings should help students develop a sense of context, including why the essential knowledge is relevant to the standard; thus, teachers should use these understandings as a basis for lesson planning.

Essential Knowledge

This column delineates the key content facts, concepts, and ideas that students should grasp in order to demonstrate understanding of the standard. This information is not meant to be exhaustive or a limitation on what is taught in the classroom. Rather, it is meant to be the principal knowledge defining the standard.

The Curriculum Framework serves as a guide for Standards of Learning assessment development; however, assessment items may not and should not be verbatim reflections of the information presented in the Curriculum Framework.

STANDARD K.1a

The student will demonstrate skills for historical thinking, geographical analysis, economic decision making, and responsible citizenship by a) viewing artifacts and primary and secondary sources to develop an understanding of history;

Essential Understandings	Experiences may include but are not limited to the following:
Viewing artifacts and primary and secondary sources involves making observations and asking questions. An artifact is an object or tool that reveals something about the past. A primary source is an artifact, document, image, or other source of information that was created during the time under study. A secondary source is a document, image, or other source of information that relates or discusses information originally presented elsewhere.	 View works of art, such as a mural or statue from the local community. View maps of the local community. View photographs from the past and from the present depicting people working in the local community. View photographs of an American flag from long ago. Listen to or talk with citizens from the local community about life in the past.

STANDARD K.1b

The student will demonstrate skills for historical thinking, geographical analysis, economic decision making, and responsible citizenship by b) using basic map skills to support an understanding of the community;

	Essential Understandings	Experiences may include but are not limited to the following:
Make simple observations and ask questions about where places are located in the community. Using a map involves making observations and connections, asking questions, and reflecting. Make simple observations and ask questions about where places are located in the community. Use a map (may be digital) or a globe to identify the location of places referenced in stories and real-life situations or create a simple map of the classroom, playground, or neighborhood. Explain how colors are used to show land and water features on maps and globes. Compare maps of the local community from the past and from the present.	re places are located in the munity. g a map involves making rvations and connections, asking	 Use a map (may be digital) or a globe to identify the location of places referenced in stories and real-life situations. Create a simple map of the classroom, playground, or neighborhood. Explain how colors are used to show land and water features on maps and globes.

STANDARD K.1c

The student will demonstrate skills for historical thinking, geographical analysis, economic decision making, and responsible citizenship by c) gathering and classifying information, sequencing events, and separating fact from fiction to improve understanding of the community;

Essential Understandings	Experiences may include but are not limited to the following:
Gathering information involves using a variety of resources.	 Listen to community members discuss events, stories, and legends to learn about the community. Sequence events from the past that show how the community has changed over time. Create a timeline with five events from the life of a student or a community member.
Classifying information involves grouping like information.	 Create a timeline with five events from the life of a student or a community member. Create a list of statements about the community. Sort them according to which ones can be proven with evidence and which cannot.
Sequencing events involves placing events in chronological order.
Separating fact from fiction involves determining whether or not information can be proven with evidence.

STANDARD K.1d

The student will demonstrate skills for historical thinking, geographical analysis, economic decision making, and responsible citizenship by d) asking appropriate questions to solve a problem;

Essential Understandings	Experiences may include but are not limited to the following:
Asking a variety of questions extends learning and deepens understanding.	 Create a simple survey or questionnaire to gain a deeper understanding of the local community. Ask adults in the community a variety of questions about a community issue. Create a class story proposing solutions to a problem.

STANDARD K.1e

The student will demonstrate skills for historical thinking, geographical analysis, economic decision making, and responsible citizenship by e) comparing and contrasting people, places, or events;

Essential Understandings	Experiences may include but are not limited to the following:
Essential Understandings Comparing and contrasting examines similarities and differences among people, places, or events. Communities have different physical and cultural characteristics.	Discuss how community helpers are alike and different in the services they provide. Use positional words such as near/far, above/below, behind/in front of, and left/right to describe how places are alike and different. Compare maps and images of the local community from the past and from the present. Create a Venn diagram to compare how holidays are celebrated.

STANDARD K.1f

The student will demonstrate skills for historical thinking, geographical analysis, economic decision making, and responsible citizenship by f) recognizing direct cause-and-effect relationships;

Experiences may include but are not limited to the following:
 Explain how the location, climate, and physical surroundings of the community affected the way people met basic wants (e.g., food, clothing, shelter) in the past and how they meet them in the present. Discuss the effects of following or breaking a classroom rule. Draw pictures to show the effects of helping others.

STANDARD K.1g

The student will demonstrate skills for historical thinking, geographical analysis, economic decision making, and responsible citizenship by g) making connections between past and present;

Essential Understandings	Experiences may include but are not limited to the following:
Everyday life in our community today is different from everyday life long ago.	 Read stories about the community in the past. Show images of foods, clothing, and houses from the past and make connections to foods, clothing, and houses of the present.
People, events, and developments have brought changes to the community.	 Discuss how community jobs have changed over time. Use maps from the past and from the present to show how the community boundaries have changed over time. Use maps or images from the past and from the present to show how maps have changed over time.

STANDARD K.1h

The student will demonstrate skills for historical thinking, geographical analysis, economic decision making, and responsible citizenship by h) using a decision-making model to make informed decisions;

Essential Understandings	Experiences may include but are not limited to the following:
Making choices involves getting more of one thing by giving up something else. All decisions involve costs (disadvantages) and benefits (advantages).	Use a decision-making model to discuss the costs a way to improve the classroom, school, or con buying a toy choosing a snack working in a group completing a classroom job.
A cost is what you give up when you decide to do something.	Sample Decision-Making Model
A benefit is what satisfies a want.	Decision to be made: Benefits (Advantages)	Costs (Disadvantages)

STANDARD K.1i

The student will demonstrate skills for historical thinking, geographical analysis, economic decision making, and responsible citizenship by i) practicing good citizenship skills while collaborating, compromising, and participating in classroom activities;

Essential Understandings	Experiences may include but are not limited to the following:
Essential Understandings The classroom provides opportunities for students to develop the qualities of a good citizen.	Experiences may include but are not limited to the following: Identify the importance of classroom chores and determine a way to distribute responsibilities fairly. Work in groups to choose among several fruits for a snack, demonstrating how people must choose something and give up something else when they cannot have everything they want. Take turns while playing a matching game. Create a classroom or school map, having each student draw a location on the map.

STANDARD K.1j

The student will demonstrate skills for historical thinking, geographical analysis, economic decision making, and responsible citizenship by j) developing fluency in content vocabulary and comprehension of oral, written, and visual sources.

Essential Understandings	Experiences may include but are not limited to the following:
Developing fluency in social studies vocabulary improves comprehension of oral, written, and visual sources of information about the community.	 Participate in class discussions about rules and the consequences of following or breaking rules, using new content vocabulary. Match pictures of workers with simple descriptions of the work people do. Sequence events in oral or written stories about families in the past and in the present.
Comprehending content vocabulary involves using and interacting with a variety of sources.

STANDARD K.2a, b

The student will recognize that history describes events and people from other times and places by

- a) identifying examples of historical events, stories, and legends that describe the development of the local community; and
- b) identifying people who helped establish and lead the local community over time.

Essential Understandings	Essential Knowledge
History relates events that have already happened. History teaches us about the interesting lives of people long ago. Localities in Virginia recognize people who helped establish and lead the local	Terms to know • history: Events that have already happened • community: A place where people live, work, and play Each local community has a unique history that includes stories and legends that have developed over time. community over time.	Local schools and divisions may determine community-related events, stories, legends, and people to be studied.

STANDARD K.3

The student will sequence events in the past and present and begin to recognize that things change over time.

Essential Understandings	Essential Knowledge
Everyday life today is different from everyday life long ago. Stories and people can describe events from the past.	Terms to know • past: Something that has already happened • present: What is happening now Information about events and traditions of the past is gained through the study of Thanksgiving; Martin Luther King, Jr., Day; George Washington Day (Presidents' Day); and Independence Day (Fourth of July). Events and traditions can be placed in chronological order to show change over time. Descriptions of life in the past and in the present can be shared by people through pictures and stories and can show how communities change over time.

The student will describe the relative location of people, places, and things by using positional words, with emphasis on near/far, above/below, left/right, and behind/in front.

The location of people, places, and things can be described in terms of their relationship to other people, places, and things. There are certain words that help us describe where people, places, and things are located. Terms to know (positional words) • near, far • above, below • left, right • behind, in front of Positional words are used daily to describe where people, places, and things are located in relation to each other. STANDARD K.5a, b, c, d, e

The student will use simple maps and globes to

- a) develop an awareness that a map is a drawing of a place to show where things are located and that a globe is a round model of Earth;
- b) describe places referenced in historical events, stories, and real-life situations;
- c) locate land and water features;
- d) identify basic map symbols in a map legend; and
- e) identify places and objects of a familiar area.

Essential Understandings	Essential Knowledge
Maps and globes represent Earth and sometimes include map legends. The location of places referenced in stories and real-life situations can be shown on maps and globes. Land and water features can be found on maps and globes.	Terms to know • map: A drawing that shows what a place looks like from above • globe: A round model of Earth • model: Something that stands for something else • symbol: A picture or thing that stands for something else • map legend: A list of shapes and symbols used on a map and an explanation of what each one stands for Maps or globes can show the location of places referenced in stories and real-life situations. Maps can show simple representations of classrooms, playgrounds, neighborhoods, rivers, and oceans. Land and water features on maps and globes are shown by different colors.

STANDARD K.6a, b, c

The student will develop an awareness that maps and globes

- a) show a view from above;
- b) show things in smaller size; andc) show the position of objects.

Essential Understandings	Essential Knowledge
Basic map concepts will help students use maps and globes.	 Basic concepts about maps and globes Land and water features can be shown on a map as viewed from above. Maps and globes show features in a smaller size than they are in real life. Locations can be found using a map, globe, geographic tool, or electronic device. Viewing and using simple maps helps to develop an awareness of where people and things are located in the community.
	viewing and using simple maps helps to develop an awareness of where people and things are located in the community.

STANDARD K.7

The student will describe how the location, climate, and physical surroundings of a community affect the way people live, including their food, clothing, shelter, transportation, and recreation.

Essential Understandings	Essential Knowledge
Geography includes the study of locations, climates, and physical surroundings. Location, climate, and physical surroundings affect the way people live.	Terms to know I coation: Where people live climate: The kinds of weather an area has over a long period of time physical surroundings: Land and bodies of water present in a given location season: Any one of the four phases of the year (spring, summer, fall, or winter) transportation: A way of moving people and things from one place to another Location, climate, and physical surroundings affect the way people in a community meet their basic wants. This includes the of oods they eat clothing they wear types of houses they build. Communities use various types of transportation to meet their needs. Geography affects how people travel from one place to another and determines which recreational activities are available in a location.

STANDARD K.8

The student will match simple descriptions of work that people do with the names of those jobs.

Essential Understandings	Essential Knowledge
People work at jobs.	People work at jobs to earn money to meet their wants. Examples of jobs Doctors and nurses are people who build houses and other buildings. Teachers are people who help students learn. Chefs are people who prepare meals. Farmers are people who grow crops and raise animals. Firefighters are people who put out fires.

STANDARD K.9a, b

The student will

- a) recognize that people make choices because they cannot have everything they want; and
- b) explain that people work to earn money to buy the things they want.

Essential Understandings	Essential Knowledge
People cannot have everything they want. A decision-making model helps people make choices. People have to make choices about things they want.
